MAGIC FENCE

An Additional Safety Device for Nuclear Plants

magic fence

Do magic rituals work? Do they work in digital space too?

Magic fences surrounding nuclear plants are going to be set up on the Internet through collective action.

A website will offer you the possibility to chose a nuclear plant you really are afraid of and to participate in the construction of the Magic Fence to protect it.

safety is vital

Safety of nuclear power plants is vital. Every conceivable measure should be undertaken to prevent further nuclear disasters: even magic.

Regarding the existence of magic practices throughout all cultures and times a complete denial of their impact would be grossly negligent*.

For this reason high risk nuclear plants shall receive additional protection by a magic fence.

collective action - magic power

The power of a magic fence emerges from collective action. Everybody can participate adding his/her personal piece of magic to it. In this way it will be growing until the needed length is achieved to close a magic circle around the nuclear plant.

Once the digital fence completed it is going to be materialized on a fabric panel of the same length. It will be delivered to the nuclear plant as additional protection system and can be attached to the existing fences to double them by the magic power of collective action.

sleeping beauty

The magic fence is braided from fancy flowerd spiny rose tendrils - which might preserve magic for at least one hundred years as it is told in the fairy tale of the sleeping beauty. Amulets, protective symbols, talismans, charms, prayers and incantations are going to be networked into this braid.

Using a modular system you can put your own magically charged element together. You are free to add your magic spell, a wish or just your name. Then you mount it to the magic fence.

Magic protection will be growing in digital space against nuclear hazard and deadly risk.

 In consideration of the durability of mythological narratives the establishment of an „Atomic Cult“ is seriously discussed by scientist as a method to mark radioactive disposal sites and to warn further generations also in 10 000 years.*

Origami Cranes

An ancient Japanese legend tells that gods will fulfill you a wish when you have folded 1000 paper cranes.

Sadako Sasaki, twelve-year-old girl, suffering from leukemia caused by the atomic bomb to Hiroshima, died while she was folding thousand cranes. In remembrance of her fight against death Origami cranes became the symbol of Japanese peace movement.

Each Magic Fence should include 1000 cranes.

MAGIC FENCE

1. Interactive Website

Collective action from the start - the set up of the website is realized through crowd funding.

2. Nuclear Power Plants

A selection of highly dangerous nuclear plants is made. Further nuclear plants can be added during the project.

3. Digital Magic Fence

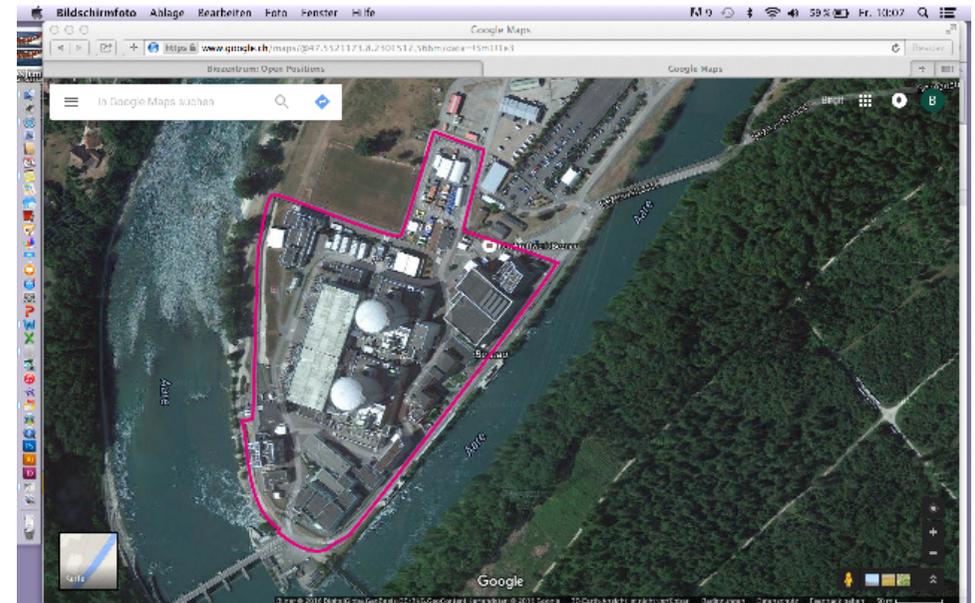

People compose their magic elements out of a selection of magic items raised from varied cultural and historical backgrounds.

4. Production Costs

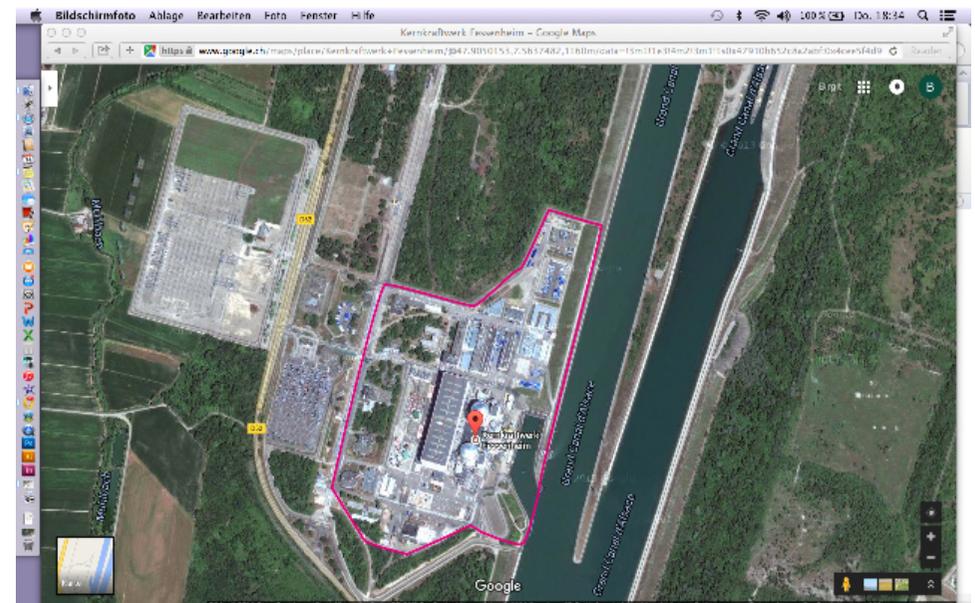

The site is provided with an online payment system to raise funds for maintenance and for the production of the Magic Fences in real space. You pay a small amount of some €uro depending on the size of your magic element.

5. Materialized Magic Fence

Once the length achieved the Magic Fence is going to be materialized as a textile banner - digital textile print, organic cotton - and delivered to the nuclear plant.
